Did Well For Hermon

At the interscholastic meet at Mount Hermon on Memorial day, Jack Polhemus, captain of the Hermon track team, ran his last races for his Alma Mater, and did not only a fast bit of running but also a heady one. He clearly led his field in the mile, three of his teammates following, to make the total of 12 points. In the half mile at the last turn, Jack seemed to be well boxed in by three runners, and just as it seemed that he would be unable to extricate himself from this predicament, somehow or other he shot out of the trap like Jack in the box to breast the tape first. It was a beautiful piece of running.

Will Buy Dead Insects

Monroe Smith, director of the AYH announces that his organization will pay to local boys and girls, five cents per hundred for bringing to the local hostel, in containers, dead flies, mosquitoes and tent caterpillars. The offer is made in the desire to rid the neighborhood of these pests, and maintain the healthfulness of the community. The AYH is glad to do its part in this problem.

Don't Shoot An Eagle

Within the last three or four years, two eagles were shot down in this vicinity, one at Vernon and another in West Northfield. Both shootings brought much criticism. However it will be very unwise to shoot down an eagle now and the "man with a gun" had better look before he fires the shot. Congress has passed the bill, which provides for a fine of $500 and six months imprisonment for capturing or killing an American eagle, now described as "no longer a mere bird of biological interest, but a symbol of the American ideals of freedom." The President has signed the bill so beware.

Many of our townspeople are enjoying the interesting and cheerful broadcasts given over WHAI each Monday and Thursday at 1:45 by Frances Walker of Northfield. It is a variety program consisting of good-cheer, music, a grab-bag of surprises, limericks, interesting facts and inspirational bits. If you are not among those who are tuning in to this unique program, we feel that you are missing some worthwhile broadcasts.

Flower Show Dates Voted By Members Of The Garden Club

At a largely attended meeting of the Garden club, held last Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mayberry, on the Mt. Hermon campus, it was voted that the Flower Show to be held at the Chateau, on Wednesday and Thursday, August 21 and 22. The program of exhibits which tentative as published recently in the Press was unanimously approved and made permanent. After the basket lunch on the spacious grounds of the Mayberry home, the members went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grove Deming to visit their fine gardens and then to Ford cottage, the home of Dr. and Mrs. David R. Porter, who received the visitors and conducted them to the showing of the beautiful garden, south of the house. Returning to the Mayberry home, the meeting was called to order by President Goodspeed, where the business of session was accomplished and it was voted to hold the July 1st meeting at the Alexander camp at Moores Pond, by invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Goodspeed. Before closing, many members exchanged small plants and talked over the difficulties of their gardens. From the members, there was every assurance that the private gardens about the town are in splendid condition and that many are most attractive, abounding in an unusual number of blooms. It looks like a flower garden summer.

Congregational Club Hear "Optimism" Talk

The Franklin County Congregational club held a dinner meeting at the Northfield hotel on Tuesday evening with sixty members present. Dr. H. M. MacDonald of Greenfield, President, presided. Rev. Robert Bonner Jack of this town led in prayer and after the luncheon some business matters were disposed of. It was voted to hold the annual meeting hereafter in the spring, instead of during the winter season. Three solos were given by Howard B. Roche, accompanied by Raymond C. Phelps. The audience joined in the singing of two hymns. The guest speaker was Rev. Arthur Rudman of Becker College, who spoke on "Optimism."

Mr. Rudman stressed the need for a strong, courageous, forward and upward looking optimism which would continue the best in our civilization on its ever-ascending plane. He said in part:

"In these dark times we need men and women with stout hearts to do some clear thinking. There is no room for pessimism. We must never admit there is any such thing as defeat. Remember that the best of what we enjoy today was born during the darkest period in the world's history, and that all evil contains the germ of its own destruction. Christian progress may be hindered but never stopped. It defies time and circumstance. When dark times come strong men shed light. The hope of the world is in its good people, and there are good people in it."

Rev. H. B. Morrell of Turners Falls offered a plea for the support of the Red Cross relief purpose. With the benediction, the meeting adjourned.

To Advertise Valley

A national newspaper advertisement on the subject of spending a vacation right on a farm in this region will be used by the Pioneer Valley Association on June 11, in the New York Times, Cleveland Plain Dealer, Washington, D. C. Post and the Christian Science Monitor. This advertisement will contain an attractive drawing of a farm scene.

This is part of a four-way plan of the association to nationally advertise hotels and inns and farmhouses in sections not having hotels or inns, and appealing to a little different class of people from those who would come to the hotels and inns; real estate, such as farms suitable for summer homes for purchase; and the industrial attractions and advantages of the region.

The real estate advertisement will be published in the above newspapers on June 16.

Massachusetts day will be held at the New York World's Fair on Saturday, July 27. Governor Saltonstall heading a delegation from the state will attend as guests and the program will be given during the afternoon at which time he will speak.

Our Memorial Day Fittingly Observed Had Ideal Weather

After the uncertain weather of many days, Memorial Day, last week Thursday, was graced with ideal conditions of warmth and sunshine, which contributed much to the program of the day as previously published in the Press. The graves of all soldier dead, in the cemeteries of the town and vicinity were remembered with flowers and many families also remembered their dear ones. Commander Emory Rikert of the American Legion was marshal of the day and led the parade which started from the high school grounds at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. The Greenfield high school band, provided the music and were followed by delegations of patriotic societies, the Legion and Auxiliary, the Sons of Veterans, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts and public school children.

The GAR tablet was decorated at Alexander hall and the procession marched to the cemetery where the memorial service was given with the following program: Singing by assembly, reading of John A. Logan's order by Com. William Slate of the Sons of Veterans; prayer by Dr. Benjamin F. White; singing by school children under direction of Mrs. Marion Goodspeed, music supervisor; reading of Northfield's honor roll by Com. Rikert of the Legion; Lincoln's Gettysburg address, Irving Scott; address by Dr. David B. Tomkins; singing of America by the assembly; GAR memorial service; distribution of wreaths by school children and scouts; volleys by Legion firing squad; Taps; and recall. During the rendering of the address, a slight disturbance was caused by an erratic young lady, a stranger in the town, who annoyed listeners but who was escorted from the grounds and told to "get out" which she did.

Miss Virginia Smith

Miss Virginia Smith, died suddenly at her home on Main St., on Monday shortly after noon, at the age of 81 years. Although in poor health for some time, she had spent the past winter in Orlando, Florida and only recently returned to her home. She was born in Winchester, N. H., April 11, 1859 and had lived there and in Northfield most of her life, except for a few years in Chicago as a teacher. For 26 years she served as the Librarian of Northfield Seminary. She retired several years ago. She was an active member of the local Congregational church and of many of its affiliated organizations. Loved and respected, she had many friends in both the older and younger generations of this town, and her memory will ever be kept constant by them. Hers was an active Christian life as she endeavored to follow her Master's teachings. Surviving are a brother, Leonard R. Smith of this town, a sister, Mrs. Charles Snitt of Bridgewater and several nieces and nephews. The funeral services were held at her late home on Wednesday afternoon, with the Rev. William W. Coe and Rev. W. Stanley Carne officiating. The burial was in the South cemetery in Winchester.

A number of local folks attended the supper at the Montague Congregational church on Wednesday evening. Everyone had a good time with plenty to eat.

William Lyon Phelps Pleases Big Audience

The auditorium on the Seminary campus was crowded to capacity Wednesday evening, when Dr. William Lyons Phelps of Yale college, was introduced as the speaker of the evening by John Holden, of Kenard Hall. In the audience was a large group of Rotarians from nearby cities and towns, who had spent the afternoon at the Northfield hotel in sports, especially golf and enjoyed a fine dinner. There were also many faculty members of schools and colleges in nearby places as well as business men and the students of the Seminary and Hermon.

Dr. Phelps entertained his hearers in a his usual conversational way touching upon many matters of literature and of its appreciation and interest. After the lecture many went to the Homestead where Mrs. W. R. Moody received and introduced the speaker in a more personal manner.

The lecture was sponsored by a group of Northfield folks and the offering went to the Students' Aid Society for its splendid work.

Hermon Has Wedding

Paul E. Black of Wakefield, a former Mount Hermon school graduate of the class of 1929, and Miss Irma M. Duffie, also of Wakefield, were married in the Hermon Memorial chapel, Sunday afternoon last by the Rev. J. Glover Johnson, the acting chaplain of Mount Hermon school. The double ring ceremony was used, before the altar decorated with white lilies and lilies of the valley and with burning tapers. After the service, there was a reception at the home of Dr. and Mrs. D. R. Porter. Mr. Black will graduate from Tufts Medical school this month as an M. D. and will take up the practice of his profession.

First Game Was Lost

The first game of the season of the newly formed baseball team of the Athletic Association with John Hurley as manager, brought a defeat at the hands of the Montague team by a score of 6-1, on Memorial day afternoon at the High school playground. The game was full of errors but interesting to the crowd who had gathered. The team will need considerable practice which it will doubtless be given by its capable manager.

Red Cross Doubles Northfields Quota Of European Relief Fund

With increasing appeals from European sources, and the terrible situation in which humanity is plunged, the American Red Cross has doubled its recent asking of $10,000,000 and is now requesting a total sum of at least $20,000,000. Norman H. Davis, the National Red Cross chairman has telegraphed the 3700 chapters throughout the country that their quota is now doubled. The quota for Franklin county will be $16,000 now and Northfields share will be raised from $571 to $1142. John W. Haigis, Chairman of the County chapter has already notified A. P. Fitt, chairman for the relief in this town. Efforts to secure subscriptions in this town must soon be made and it is quite likely a house to house canvass will be made later. Checks toward the local quota are being received by Mr. Fitt and in some stores, Red Cross gift boxes have been conspicuously displayed. The Northfield Seminary has made an appeal to the students and at Kenard Hall a deposit box has been placed.

"When the American Red Cross asked for a minimum war relief fund of $10,000,000, no one could foresee that in two short weeks, the greatest tragedy in all history would be unfolded," said Mr. Davis. "It is impossible to describe the pitiful plight of millions of refugees in France, Sick, wounded, hungry, and homeless, they cry out to us for help."

The $20,000,000 now being collected will go to countries that have asked for it. Some of it will be spent abroad where supplies are available, some in this country for equipment ranging from soap to ambulances.

Indicative of the imperative need of the need for aid is this week's decision of the Red Cross to send its own "mercy ship" to Europe. As is its custom, the International Red Cross, with headquarters at Geneva, has offered relief to people on both sides in the European conflict, but thus far, the German Red Cross has said it would be able to care for its own people.

Our citizens are urged to give and give promptly toward the Northfield quota. Send your check to Mr. Fitt immediately. The sum named for this town can and will be secured.

West Northfield Girl Graduated As Teacher

Miss Helen I. Wozniak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wozniak of West Northfield graduated from the State Teachers college at Framingham this week with her degree of bachelor of science in education. At college she was a member of the Verse choir, the Current Events club and the A'Kempis club. She was active in athletics and took part in many of the college affairs. She was interested in art and handicraft work. Her plans for the future have not been disclosed.

Pleasure Route 8

The state highway, known as the Mohawk trail and route 2, from Concord to North Adams will now be known as "Pleasure route 8" by order of the public works commissioners in Boston. The new designation was made at the instance of the State Planning board as an invitation to tourists to use this scenic highway. New markers will be placed along the 117 miles of the highway and signs will be shaped in the outline of the state. This highway will attract many more tourists to its use.

Look To Your Tires

It is said that inspectors of the state highway department are on the highways to check on autos as to the condition of their tires. The state Registrar has come to the opinion that a contributing cause of too many accidents has been due to smooth tires, which admit of skidding on wet pavements, or not holding when brakes are applied. The field force of inspectors will check the situation and car owners are warned to look over their tires and their condition.

County Hospital Needs Funds For This Year To Carry On Its Work

The Franklin county hospital will need the sum of $15,000 in voluntary support of its work for the current year, over and above all other expected income. The hospital carries on much free and below cost service to those who are unable to pay. All of the communities in the county are served by the hospital and the number of patients last year, included 2,077 of which 1,203 were from Greenfield and 874 from other communities. There were 28,661 patient days, 957 operations performed, 276 babies born, 194 ambulance calls, 938 X-ray examinations and 752 cases attended in the clinics. The policy of the hospital has been to care for the sick to the limit of their facilities and to render the best service possible by its staff of surgeons, physicians and nurses. Friends of the hospital, including the Womens Board for Organized work are constantly doing much for the hospital but a larger number of persons must be enlisted to assist. A very terse statement regarding the institution is being sent out and contributions are invited. Dr. Halbert G. Stetson as President and Willis H. Weissbrod as Chairman of the Subscription Committee will be glad to acknowledge any gifts.

It was a most interesting affair and the judges awarded the first prize to Alfred Stites, who gave the soliloquy from Hamlet beginning, "Oh what a rogue and peasant slave." First prize was ten dollars. Second prize of six dollars went to John Temple for his selection from "Johnny got his gun," and third prize of five dollars was won by Colby Stearns, who gave Leacock's "My financial career." The prizes will be awarded on class day.

On Children's Day We Rule

By BETTY BARCLAY

This day is set aside for little Billy and Betty. Serve the foods they love — within reason. Forget those "necessary" and "food-for-you" foods for just one day. The recipes below will aid you in preparing this "royal" feast.

Oranges, Honey Ambrosia Salad (Serves 1)

Dip 4 or 5 orange slices in slightly warmed honey which has been placed in a flat bowl or saucer. Then dip both sides of slices in coconut. Arrange on a bed of lettuce and garnish with dots of canned or maraschino cherry pieces or with whole fresh cherries or unhulled strawberries.

Children's Delight (Serves 1)
1 package vanilla rennet powder
1 pint milk (not canned or soft curd)

4 or 5 canned apricot halves
Make rennet-custard according to directions on package. When ready to serve top each rennet-custard with a canned apricot half, rounded side up.

Frappe Pineapple Juice with Fruit Kabobs

Place a fruit kabob, made by alternating canned Hawaiian pineapple gems and red maraschino cherries on a long cocktail toothpick, in a tall slender glass. Fill 3/4 full with crushed ice. Pour in canned unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice to fill glass. Garnish with a sprig of mint.

EDITORIAL

Citizens of this community are becoming more and more alarmed and concerned over the war in Europe. Hatred against the madman of Mars is intensified, because of his ravages of property and human life and most of all because of his bloody and murderous proclivities. Old men, women and children fleeing from the horrors of battle, along the roads to safety find death and injury at his hands. The condition of our minds is kindred to those of communities throughout the land, and it is no wonder therefore that sentiment for the democracies and for the preservation of civilization is that America must take some definite and decided position. In many ways, we are in the war already, but it now looks as if we shall take another forward step.

There is no doubt that evil influences are at work in this country to destroy eventually our freedom, our liberties and our American "way of life." However these influences will never succeed, if we keep our feet on the ground and in sober judgment, take such action as may be necessary to curb and end all subversive intentions. Sometimes our rural communities are overlooked, but it will not be so in Northfield. It is not needful that some act of sabotage be committed in our midst to arouse us, for we are already aroused over reports of what has happened elsewhere. What we want to know, is that our citizenship is true and steadfast. We need to know the minds of our people and of the actions of strangers coming to us. We should know "Who's who" here and from present information, we are going to know through the efforts of well disposed citizens in our midst. The alien will be listed, the pro-German will be watched and there will be no room for the individual who fails in loyalty to the things which this government stands for.

The Back Yard Gardener

By G. O. Olson

I heard a funny squeaking noise in my yard the other day and upon investigation I found it was the dandelions hollering for help. They were being crowded out by the grass. Now that sounds like a tall story and may be it is. But the point I want to make is that I certainly have had a very effective demonstration in my own yard of what plenty of plant food will do to bring a lawn back and to crowd out weeds.

My lawn was pretty patchy early this spring. Last fall when putting on the storm windows I left them on the lawn and cooked the crowns. But after a good dose of fertilizer, all of the patches except two or three the size of your hand have disappeared. And as I say the dandelions have to grow straight up in order to get through the grass. After digging out those which did make the grade, I have a lawn that's as thick as the proverbial hair on a dog's back.

My friend Lawrence Dickinson always insists that fertilizer is the best weedicide that you can have. He says if you have 40 per cent or more basic grasses in your lawn it's much better to fertilize to bring the lawn back than it is to try to remake it.

Even at this date, he would recommend an application of fertilizer—perhaps not so heavy as you'd give in April. But two applications in the spring would give you much better results than one, since the second one enables the grass to take full advantage of the first application.

There is one exception to this. And that is, don't fertilize now

"THE MARCH OF TIME"

If you have crabgrass. Wait until September and then give a fertilization.

Then along this same line I wanted to mention about moss in the lawn. I have had people ask me what to do for this. Sodium nitrate has been found to be one of the most effective remedies. It not only kills out the moss, but eventually serves as a fertilizer for the grass. Some people use a combination of sodium nitrate and muriate of potash.

Eradication of a bad infestation of moss can be expected in two or three years by the application of nitrate of soda at the rate of 10 pounds per thousand square feet. This amount of course varies a little with how much moss you have and how anxious you are to get rid of it.

As I said, you can mix the sodium nitrate and muriate of potash. Or you can apply the muriate of potash alone at the rate of about 6 to 10 pounds to a thousand square feet. Whichever you use, you'll have a burning of what grass is present, but it should recover in due time. That amount divided into three applications a short time apart will cause less burning but slower results.

Spring or early summer is the best time for this application. A fall application is not recommended.

LATEST IN WHEELS

THE first four wheel drive tractor-trailer unit to be completely equipped with Differential Dual Wheels has just completed a trip half way across the country from Detroit to New York. "This eight-wheeled truck, equipped with differential wheels, is the first step toward the eight-wheeled passenger auto," declares Philip M. Carter, nationally known automotive executive. Differential wheels, in definite contrast to conventional rigid dual wheels, revolve independently of one another, resulting in marked economies in gas and oil consumption and tire wear. Note the chalk marks which show the variation in one turn of the wheel from right to left. Four front wheels make for added safety and eliminate the dangers of front wheel blowouts. Steering takes considerably less effort and is comparatively easy even when the car is not in motion. Increased carrying capacity and maneuverability are added advantages.
